

OLD FRIENDS

Who is ?

Mr Gabriel Utterson

"The last respectable person and the last good influence in the lives of men who were on the path to ruin."

Dr Henry Jekyll

"He was wild when he was young"

Edward Hyde

"The man stepped calmly on the child's body and left her crying with pain and shock on the ground".

Dr Hastie Lanyon

"He looked like someone who has been threatened with death. He had lost a lot of weight and most of his hair. He looked very much older."

Who said / thought?

"I've never read the devil's handwriting more clearly on any man's than on that of your new friend."

Mr Gabriel Utterson

"From now on, I mean to live quite alone... You must let me go my own way. I've brought on myself a punishment and a danger I cannot name."

Dr Henry Jekyll

"Though I desire to spare your master's feelings, though I am puzzled by this note, which seems to prove him to be still alive, I shall consider it my duty to break in that door."

Mr Gabriel Utterson

"I found it hard to combine this (a kind of impatient excitement and desire for entertainment) with my strong desire to carry my head high and to wear a serious expression in public."

Dr Henry Jekyll

"There before my eyes – pale and shaken, and half fainting and groping before him with his hands, like a man restored from death – there stood Henry Jekyll."

Dr Hastie Lanyon

"Such unscientific nonsense would have separated even such friends as Damon and Pythias".

Dr Hastie Lanyon

"I would trust you more than any man alive, even more than myself."

Dr Henry Jekyll

"I've had a shock. I shall never recover. It's a question of weeks."

Dr Hastie Lanyon

"I even managed to mix a drug that would change the whole substance of the body and mind and would reshape them in a new way."

Dr Henry Jekyll

"You're unfortunate to advise a man like me. I have never seen anyone so upset as you were by my will."

Dr Henry Jekyll

"I give you fair warning, our suspicions are aroused, and I must and shall see you."

Mr Gabriel Utterson

Who said / thought?

"I cry with shame at the memory of it"

Dr Henry Jekyll

"I thought it was madness ... and now I begin to fear that it is shame and dishonour."

Mr Gabriel Utterson

"Evil brought him and your master together. Yes, truly I believe you. I believe poor Harry is killed and I believe his murderer is still hiding in his room."

Mr Gabriel Utterson

"If he be Mr Hyde, I shall be Mr Seek."

Mr Gabriel Utterson

"This master Hyde, if he were studied, must have secrets of his own: black secrets by the look of him."

Mr Gabriel Utterson

"I felt younger, lighter and happier in body; in my mind, I was conscious of a wild current of disordered fancies and of an unknown and slightly evil freedom of the soul."

Dr Henry Jekyll

"I'll tell you one thing: I can be rid of Mr Hyde whenever I choose. I promise you that."

Dr Henry Jekyll

"Sir, you speak enigmas, and you will not be surprised if I am skeptical about what you are saying. But I have gone too far in the way of inexplicable services to pause before I see the end."

Dr Hastie Lanyon

"After I am dead, you may perhaps come to learn the right and wrong of this. I cannot tell you"

Dr Hastie Lanyon

"I beg you to make no mention of someone who I regard as dead."

Dr Hastie Lanyon

"I'm in a delicate situation, a very strange situation. It's one of those problems that cannot be solved by talking."

Dr Henry Jekyll

"If your master has fled or is dead, we may at least save his credit. It is now ten; I must go home and read these documents in quiet."

Mr Gabriel Utterson

tall, thin and dull
but quite lovable

strict with himself

never judged others strictly good-natured in everything he did

Mr Gabriel Utterson

with a severe expression

a serious lawyer

a bachelor

his oldest friend

he had no family.

a large, well-built man of fifty

an extremely respectable man

became too fanciful

went wrong in his ideas

Dr Henry Jekyll

gifted with excellent abilities

born in a rich family

strength of his religious beliefs

hard-working living a double life

generosity to the poor

Who said / thought?

"I've never read the devil's handwriting more clearly on any man's than on that of your new friend."

-----

"From now on, I mean to live quite alone... You must let me go my own way. I've brought on myself a punishment and a danger I cannot name."

-----

"Though I desire to spare your master's feelings, though I am puzzled by this note, which seems to prove him to be still alive, I shall consider it my duty to break in that door."

-----

"I found it hard to combine this (a kind of impatient excitement and desire for entertainment) with my strong desire to carry my head high and to wear a serious expression in public."

-----

"There before my eyes – pale and shaken, and half fainting and groping before him with his hands, like a man restored from death – there stood Henry Jekyll."

-----

"Such unscientific nonsense would have separated even such friends as Damon and Pythias".

-----

"I would trust you more than any man alive, even more than myself."

-----

"I've had a shock. I shall never recover. It's a question of weeks."

-----

"I even managed to mix a drug that would change the whole substance of the body and mind and would reshape them in a new way."

-----

"You're unfortunate to advise a man like me. I have never seen anyone so upset as you were by my will."

-----

"I give you fair warning, our suspicions are aroused, and I must and shall see you."

-----

rarely sees him

went to school and college with Jekyll sleep has left him

a hearty healthy red-faced gentleman rosy face

quarrelled on some scientific point it made his soul sick.

with a lively and decided manner

his other self

Dr Hastie Lanyon

an ignorant blatant pedant

the rosy man had become pale

Edward Hyde

the nastiest man people have ever seen small something wrong with his appearance

weak body

he was like some pitiless great machines.

not easy to describe speaks with a strange and rough voice ugly smile

his clothes were far too large a really unpleasant man

very plainly dressed hardly human

"The last respectable person and the last good influence in the lives of men who were on the path to ruin."

his man servant

old friends

Poole

well-dressed

"He was wild when he was young"

Who is?

goes on Sunday walks

elderly

Mr Richard Enfield

"The man stepped calmly on the child's body and left her crying with pain and shock on the ground".

his distant cousin

twenty years in his master's house

witnessed the accident with the girl

"He looked like someone who has been threatened with death. He had lost a lot of weight and most of his hair. He looked very much older."

his head
clerk

his victim

well-known man
about town

Mr Guest

a butler

clubbed to death

Sir Danvers Carew

A critic of handwriting

a man of counsel

an old gentleman

a member of Parliament

Dr Hastie Lanyon	Dr Hastie Lanyon		Dr Hastie Lanyon
Mr Gabriel Utterson	Mr Gabriel Utterson		Mr Gabriel Utterson
Dr Henry Jekyll	Dr Henry Jekyll	Who said?	Dr Henry Jekyll
Dr Henry Jekyll	Dr Hastie Lanyon	Who thought?	Edward Hyde
Dr Hastie Lanyon	Mr Gabriel Utterson		Who is?
Mr Gabriel Utterson	Dr Henry Jekyll
Dr Henry Jekyll	Dr Henry Jekyll
Dr Hastie Lanyon	Mr Gabriel Utterson	Dr Hastie Lanyon
Mr Gabriel Utterson	Dr Henry Jekyll	Mr Gabriel Utterson
Dr Henry Jekyll	Dr Henry Jekyll	Mr Gabriel Utterson

Who said / thought?

"I cry with shame at the memory of it"

"I thought it was madness ... and now I begin to fear that it is shame and dishonour."

"Evil brought him and your master together. Yes, truly I believe you. I believe poor Harry is killed and I believe his murderer is still hiding in his room."

"If he be Mr Hyde, I shall be Mr Seek."

"This master Hyde, if he were studied, must have secrets of his own: black secrets by the look of him."

"I felt younger, lighter and happier in body; in my mind, I was conscious of a wild current of disordered fancies and of an unknown and slightly evil freedom of the soul."

"I'll tell you one thing: I can be rid of Mr Hyde whenever I choose. I promise you that."

"Sir, you speak enigmas, and you will not be surprised if I am skeptical about what you are saying. But I have gone too far in the way of inexplicable services to pause before I see the end."

"After I am dead, you may perhaps come to learn the right and wrong of this. I cannot tell you"

"I beg you to make no mention of someone who I regard as dead."

"I'm in a delicate situation, a very strange situation. It's one of those problems that cannot be solved by talking."

"If your master has fled or is dead, we may at least save his credit. It is now ten; I must go home and read these documents in quiet."